Description:

Lanakila Outrigger Canoe Club (LOCC) formed in 1970, and has a long and rich history in the Polynesian tradition of outrigger canoe paddling. Based at King Harbor in Redondo Beach, California, LOCC is made up of a diverse group of paddlers ranging in age from 12-75, and from varied backgrounds. Members come to the team with varying athletic backgrounds, with some looking to be highly competitive and others for the chance to exercise and meet new friends. In addition to racing, LOCC holds social events and fundraisers with the dedication of volunteer members. LOCC is a member of the Surfrider Foundation, supports the King Harbor Youth Sailing Team, and works with the Ocean of Hope each year to raise money for sarcoma cancers.
